

The Agency Dashboard for All Your Sites

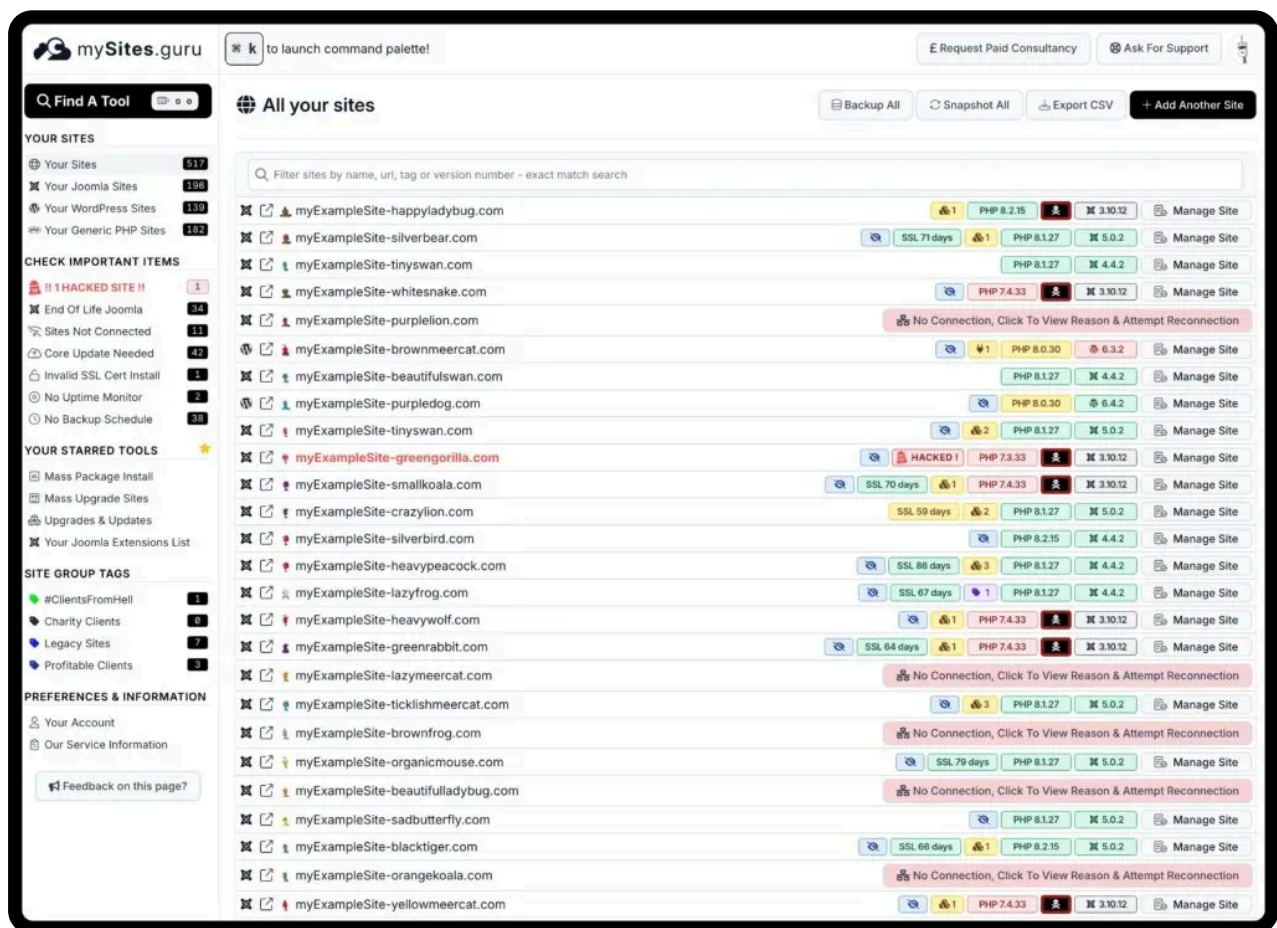

The mySites.guru main dashboard surfaces SSL status, update counts, audit alerts, uptime and more for every connected Joomla or WordPress site at a glance.

The mySites.guru dashboard for managing multiple WordPress sites pulls your sites' key information into one place. Having this data to hand, instead of spread across disparate systems, spreadsheets, and post-it notes, means faster decisions and a clear view of what needs doing.

The main sites list

The first page you get to after login is the main list of your sites.

The Main Sites List In Your Account

This page brings together all your Joomla and WordPress sites. In a single mySites.guru account you can have UNLIMITED sites of any platform.

On this page we list the most important information visually, so you can immediately see:

- Number of tags on a site
- Audit not yet viewed notification
- No SSL Certificate used on site
- Number of updates available per site
- The site's server PHP Version
- The sites's platform (Joomla/WordPress) version
- If the site is hacked

For version numbers, we highlight them green if the latest version, orange if out of date and red if end of life.

From this page you can even export a CSV List of your sites and their overview information for processing in a spreadsheet or other system.

You can also use the quick links to view your site, or, if configured, use the admin link to Auto Login to your Joomla/WordPress Admin console - a single click login!

The left menu: check important items

Depending dynamically on the information we have on your sites, your left menu will also have some important checks as menu items to filter your sites list.

Left Menu

These are just some of the menu items that can be visible based on the data on your sites, bringing together, in one place, a list of tasks you can undertake to get your sites in better shape, to allow you to see the updates available on your sites and then by clicking the menu links, to filter your sites by that item - showing which sites you need to take action on.

Other site information

Just to highlight some other menu items that bring together your site data in one place, you can find the "Other Site Information menu group, this contains several items such as:

- Your Webservers, by hostname - a list of your server hostnames and the filter to see which sites are on which servers
- Your Joomla Extensions - a complete set of tools for viewing and managing your Joomla extensions, and listing which sites they are on, and their versions and data
- Your Joomla Update Sites - a list of all the Joomla Update Sites for your extensions, and the ability to set and disable automatic extension/plugin updates
- Your Site Screenshots - FREE graphical screenshots of the home page of every site you have in your account, and links to enable a public "show off" page of these.
- Your SSL Certificate Expirations - see below...

SSL expiration tracking

One of these "Other Site Information" Menu items is for SSL Expiration Dates.

On this page we bring together in one place, a list of all your sites with SSL Certificates installed, and list, by expiration date, their certificate issuers and expiration date.

The items nearer the top will expire first (But dont worry, mySites.guru checks your site several times a day with the Snapshot, and if your SSL is getting close to expiration we alert you by email!)

The screenshot shows the mySites.guru dashboard. The main heading is "SSL Issuer And Expiration Dates". Below the heading is a search bar for filtering sites. The main content is a table with columns for SITE, ISSUER, and EXPIRES. The table lists 20 example sites with their respective issuers (all R3) and expiration dates from Mar 05 2024 to Mar 12 2024. Each row has a "Manage Site" button. The first row has a red badge indicating "SSL 29 days".

That's a quick look at how mySites.guru pulls data from unlimited Joomla and WordPress sites into one dashboard.

Site intelligence is covered in our agency multi-site management guide.

Frequently Asked Questions

What information is visible at a glance on the mySites.guru main sites dashboard?

The dashboard shows each site's PHP version, CMS platform version (colour-coded green/orange/red), SSL status, number of available updates, hack detection status, and any unviewed audit notifications.

Does mySites.guru warn me before my SSL certificates expire?

Yes - mySites.guru checks SSL certificates multiple times a day via its snapshot feature and sends an email alert when a certificate is approaching its expiration date.

Can I manage both Joomla and WordPress sites from a single mySites.guru account?

Yes - a single account supports an unlimited number of sites across both Joomla and WordPress with no platform restrictions.
